Thunder Road Series

“Everything-setting, characters, romance-about this novel works and works well.” —Kirkus Reviews STARRED review

“Well-paced, satisfying romance.” —Publishers Weekly STARRED review

An unforgettable series from acclaimed author Katie McGarry about taking risks, opening your heart and ending up in a place you never imagined possible.

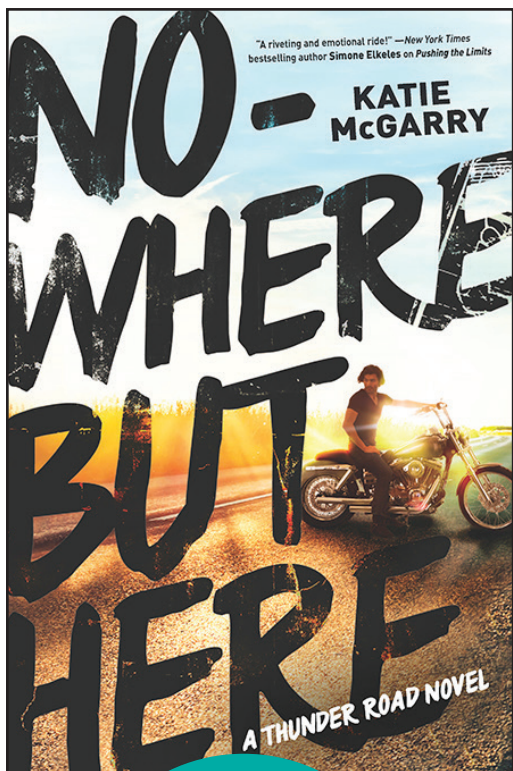

Seventeen-year-old Emily likes her life the way it is: doting parents, good friends, good school in a safe neighborhood. Sure, she’s curious about her biological father—the one who chose life in a motorcycle club, the Reign of Terror, over being a parent—but that doesn’t mean she wants to be a part of his world. But when a reluctant visit turns into an extended summer vacation among relatives she never knew she had, one thing becomes clear: nothing is what it seems. Not the club, not her secret-keeping father and not Oz, a guy with suck-me-in blue eyes who can help her understand them both.

Oz wants one thing: to join the Reign of Terror. They’re the good guys. They protect people. They’re...family. And while Emily—the gorgeous and sheltered daughter of the club’s most respected member—is in town, he’s gonna prove it to her. So when her father asks him to keep her safe from a rival club with a score to settle, Oz knows it’s his shot at his dream. What he doesn’t count on is that Emily just might turn that dream upside down.

No one wants them to be together. But sometimes the right person is the one you least expect, and the road you fear the most is the one that leads you home.

Thirteen-year-old Bernadette Crowley has a problem with demons. As the youngest in a long line of blood witches, demons used to be no big deal. A quick prick of the finger, and a blood witch can summon a demon to do anything they need—clean dishes, send a message, you name it.

But that was before Ber was diagnosed with diabetes. Now, each time she tests her blood sugar, accidental demons are slipping through into the human dimension...even if she's sitting in math class or playing volleyball in gym. The chaos is seriously getting out of control.

Along with her older sister, Maeve, Ber decides on a magical solution. Forget a diabetes dog—she'll conjure a minor demon specifically to monitor her blood sugar. However, the two sisters manage to conjure something much more serious: a potentially dangerous Mystery demon. Sure, the Mystery can sense Ber's blood sugar, but the sisters wonder what else the enigmatic demon might be able to do, and what their motives truly are.

When a desperate Messenger demon alerts the girls that their Mom, Dad, and Grandma Orla have been trapped by a rogue coven, the sisters rush into action. They'll need to ally with a group of young witches and mages from schools of magic that their family has always sworn against, pile into the family's old station wagon, and work together to save their loved ones. But to do so, Ber must determine if the Mystery demon she has bound herself to is worthy of her trust, and if they are, if she can risk losing them, too.

Author Bio: Clare Edge is an author and witch who was raised in the Rocky Mountains. They have too many degrees, too few cats, and often too much or too little blood sugar. Their nonfiction has been featured in So Hormonal (Monstrous Regiment) and Bang! (Microcosm). They write stories that center queer, disabled, and fat characters going on magical adventures. Their life is a constant quest for coziness.

The Unsleping Witch (Book Two) The Gingerbread Witch Series Alexandra Overy

“The Gingerbread Witch is a magical tale, brimming with heart.”

—Anne Ursu, National Book Award Longlisted author of The Troubled Girls of Dragomir Academy on The Gingerbread Witch

In this sequel to The Gingerbread Witch, Maud is determined to rescue the Sleeping Beauty, but magical twists and turns lie ahead. Perfect for fans of Whatever After and Descendants!

Maud may be made of gingerbread—plus a spark of magic—but she’s a real witch! Even if she’s still learning, and has a habit of making messes...and might have accidentally unleashed the hundred year old, Class IV sleeping curse that envelopes a princess’s bramble-covered castle. Oops.

Maud has her friends Gretel, Ludo, and Nuss the hazelnut mousse squirrel to help her fix this. But it won’t be easy to find the sleeping princess’s true love, and the curse might end up being the least of their problems...

Author Bio: Alexandra Overy grew up in London and moved to Los Angeles to pursue her undergraduate degree in history at UCLA. She then went on to complete her MFA in screenwriting also at UCLA and stuck around for the weather and great ice cream. She loves writing in all formats, from novels to screenplays to graphic novels, always centering on fierce women and morally gray characters, often with a bit of magic and murder. When she’s not writing, she can be found baking, fangirling over her favorite books, or cuddling her foster kittens. The Unsleping Witch is the sequel to The Gingerbread Witch.

Run Like A Girl

Amaka Egbe

Following an unexpected announcement from her mother, sixteen-year-old Dera Edwards finds herself shipped off to live with her estranged father in the middle of White Suburbia. That’s bad enough, but Dera’s new school doesn’t have a girls’ track team, which shatters her dreams of getting a track scholarship and someday competing in the Olympics.

Not one to give up easily, Dera joins the boys’ team instead. She may have the school administration’s blessing, but her new teammates and classmates are less than welcoming, and her father remains frustratingly distant. Dera starts to think she’s destined to be an outsider when she’s approached by her classmate Rosalyn, who wants to feature Dera in her blog. It would be a win-win for them both—Rosalyn can build up her resume ahead of college applications, and Dera can gain a network of support. And if that means spending more time with Rosalyn’s gorgeous cousin Gael—who happens to be one of the few teammates who will talk to her—even better.

As Dera gains attention from her classmates as well as students across the state, her new notoriety also opens the door for caustic vitriol. Paired with her deteriorating relationship with her father, Dera soon finds everything to be too much to balance. Will Dera be able to stop running from her problems, or will her dream be the very thing that derails her?

Author Bio: Writing has been a part of Amaka Egbe’s life ever since she could hold a pen. From crafting one-page stories to typing out novel-length manuscripts, Amaka’s writing journey continued developing as she aged. Her work encapsulates aspects of her own life as well as general areas of interest. Exploring cultural differences and mental health are major tenants in most of her work, stemming from her American and Nigerian upbringing. Amaka studied Marketing and Psychology at the University of Houston and is currently earning a master’s degree in Industrial-Organizational Psychology at the University of Houston-Clear Lake.

Magical forces clash and Erthia hovers on the brink of ruin in the finale of New York Times bestselling author Laurie Forest’s epic fantasy series, The Black Witch Chronicles!

Black Witch of prophecy Elloren Gardner Grey has unleashed her powers and embraced her legacy as a Dryad and guardian of the Forest. But the losses—of life, of love—have been almost too great to withstand as the Shadow continues to devour the world. With only a tattered shred of hope remaining, the Bearers of the Wand of Myth must battle their way back to each other to mount a final stand.

But Elloren and her allies are not only facing Mage Vogel’s advancing forces—the armies of the Eastern Realm will stop at nothing to see the Black Witch struck down.

With Elloren’s bonded mate prophesied to kill her, Shadow demons rising, and the ties between allies unraveling, can this fracturing world unite to face down the coming storm?

Author Bio: Laurie Forest lives deep in the backwoods of Vermont, where she sits in front of a woodstove drinking strong tea and dreaming up tales full of dryads, dragons, and wands. She is the author of The Black Witch Chronicles.

Every Time You Go Away

Abigail Johnson

Praise for Every Other Weekend:

“Heart-wrenching and hopeful—a reminder that we can change our stories.” —Kirkus Reviews

“The positive, not overly simplistic resolution to this complicated story will touch readers.” —Booklist

Five Feet Apart meets A List of Cages in an unforgettable novel about two childhood friends separated by hardships and reunited by fate. After three years apart, can they find their way back to each other?

Since the moment Ethan first arrived at his grandparents’ house, Rebecca and Ethan have been drawn to each other. But even as children, they knew their time together was limited. Time and time again, Ethan’s mom would sober up and take him away—only to bring him back when she relapsed.

Three years have passed since Ethan last lived with his grandparents, and Ethan and Rebecca are no longer the same people they once were. Ethan embraced his role as his mother’s caretaker long ago and blames his grandparents from tearing him away from her. Meanwhile, Rebecca is wracked with survivor’s guilt after a car accident killed her father. She’s been learning to navigate life as a wheelchair user ever since.

Now that fate has brought them together, they’ll have to learn if the time apart created too much distance between them—or if they can finally find happiness together.

Author Bio: Abigail Johnson was born in Pennsylvania. When she was twelve, her family traded in snowstorms for year-round summers and moved to Arizona. Abigail chronicled the entire road trip and has been writing ever since. She became a tetraplegic when she was seventeen, but hasn’t let that stop her from bodysurfing in Mexico, writing and directing a high-school production of Cinderella, and becoming a published author. ## Waking Fire (Book One) Waking Fire Duology Jean Louise

Praise for Waking Fire:

“Propulsive and full of heart.” —Sara Holland, New York Times bestselling author of Everless and Havenfall

“A searing-hot fantasy debut, full of wit, sacrifice, and the bonds that make us family.” —Jaida Jones and Dani Bennett, co-authors of Master of One

“A vibrant fantasy debut that delivers fast-paced adventure and unexpected surprises.” —Kirkus Reviews

This incendiary YA fantasy debut follows a girl who will stop at nothing to save her village after it’s discovered by a dangerous warlord and his army of undead monsters. Perfect for fans of A Song of Wraiths and Ruin.

Naira Khoun has only known life in Lagusa, a quiet village at the desert’s end. But to the rest of the world, Lagusa is a myth, its location shrouded in secrecy. While war rages to the north led by power-hungry Sothpike and his army of undead monsters called Dambi, Naira’s people live in peace.

Until the impossible happens—Lagusa is attacked by a Mistress sent to do Sothpike’s bidding with a hoard of Dambi under her control. The Mistress is looking for something, and she’s willing to let her Dambi destroy Lagusa to get it.

Desperate to protect her home, Naira convinces her twin brother Nez and handsome refugee Kal to join the newly formed resistance with her. Together, they’ll have to figure out what the Mistress wants—before there’s nothing left of Lagusa to save.

Author Bio: Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Jean Louise currently lives in Queens, New York, with her cat, Martha. When she’s not writing, she can be found with her nose buried in a graphic novel or taking down bad guys in her favorite video games. She received an MFA in writing for children from the New School.

Igniting Fate (Book Two) Waking Fire Duology

Jean Louise

This epic sequel to Waking Fire follows a girl forced to leave home for the first time to confront her destiny—and the ancient evil dragon god set to destroy the world. Perfect for fans of A Song of Wraiths and Ruin and We Hunt the Flame.

Naira Khoum's life used to be simple and easy in her quiet village hidden beyond the desert. But with the ruthless warlord Sothpike at her doorstep, Naira has no choice but to leave home for the first time in search of the mysterious nomad Gamikal, the only person who can help her understand the strange powers that have awakened inside her. But doing so means parting ways with her twin brother, Nez, and her love, Kal.

But finding Gamikal is only the beginning. He tells Naira of Sothpike's plan to resurrect the evil dragon god Ergenagon from the godfire where he's been trapped for centuries. Only Naira has the power to stop him, but before they can reach the godfire, they're captured by Sothpike's army, led by his son, Ashoka.

As Naira travels with the army, she learns that Ashoka is nothing like his father—in fact, he's been slowly building support in an effort to end the war, and with Naira's help, they might have a chance. With growing feelings between them, Naira finally learns what her true destiny is—to enter the godfire and emerge as a dragon. With the fate of the world hanging in the balance, will Naira find the courage to walk into the flames of her fate?

A Multitude of Dreams

Mara Rutherford

“Mara Rutherford’s The Poison Season took me on a journey through a bloodthirsty forest, where two star-crossed lovers discover the true meaning of poison. It brims with evocative storytelling that left me enchanted!” —Emily J. Taylor, New York Times bestselling author of Hotel Magnifique on The Poison Season

In this gothic fantasy retelling of Edgar Allan Poe’s “The Masque of the Red Death” with a bloody twist, the author of The Poison Season gives us a dual-POV story set in a plague-ravaged world about a commoner posing as a princess, a destitute gentleman posing as a prince, and the web of lies they must navigate to defeat the monsters coming for them both.

The bloody plague is over, and the survivors are finally safe...or so they think.

Princess Imogen is living a protected life at the castle on borrowed time. The illusion of order is fading, and she must escape before the fast-dwindling rations run out and all hell is unleashed.

Now-destitute Nico Mott wouldn’t have survived the aftermath of the plague if not for the generosity of Lord Crane. But does owing Lord Crane his life mean he owes him his silence?

When Lord Crane sends Nico to search for more plague survivors in the castle, Nico collides with a princess who has her own reasons for wanting to break out—into a world where fresh horrors lie in wait.

Author Bio: Mara Rutherford began her writing career as a journalist but quickly discovered she far preferred fantasy to reality. Originally from California, Mara has since lived all over the world along with her marine-turned-diplomat husband. A triplet born on Leap Day, Mara holds a master’s degree in cultural studies from the University of London.

With Or Without You

Eric Smith

Praise for You Can Go Your Own Way:

“Eric Smith’s writing deftly finds its way straight to the emotional core of his characters and leaves the reader with a lasting sense of hope.”
—Nicola Yoon, #1 New York Times bestselling author of Everything, Everything and The Sun Is Also a Star

“Brimming with wintry coziness, heady nostalgia, and wholly loveable characters... The perfect novel to snuggle up with.”
—Emily Henry, bestselling author of Beach Read

New from Eric Smith comes a delightful YA rom-com about two teens whose families have orchestrated a feud between their Philly cheesesteak food trucks in order to drive up business—but when the fake rivalry lands them a gig on reality TV, the teens have to hide their very real romance from the world. Perfect for fans of Adi Alsaid and Maureen Goo.

Everyone knows Jordan Plaza and Cindy Ortiz hate each other.

According to many viral videos of their public shouting matches, the Plaza and Ortiz families have a well-known food truck rivalry. Jordan and Cindy have spent their teen years running their families’ cheesesteak trucks and slinging insults at each other. But the truth? They are in love, and it’s all just an act for the tourists.

When a food truck competition and a reality show pilot offer them both a chance at their dreams, their relationships, both fake and real, are pushed to the breaking point. Trapped between pursuing their dreams or their love, can Jordan and Cindy find a way to have both?

Author Bio: Eric Smith is an author and literary agent from Elizabeth, New Jersey. When he isn’t working on other people’s books, sometimes he tries to write his own. He enjoys pop punk, video games and crying during every movie. He lives in Philadelphia with his wife and best friend, Nena; and their son, Langston.

Margo Zimmerman Gets The Girl

Brianna R. Shrum and Sara Waxelbaum

“Hilarious, heartfelt, and gay as hell, Margo Zimmerman doesn’t just get the girl—she gets my whole freaking heart, too!” —New York Times bestselling author Ashley Poston

“This story is everything I love in a YA romance—funny, voicey, insightful, and heartwarming.” —Ashley Herring Blake, USA TODAY bestselling author of Astrid Parker Doesn’t Fail

Perfect for fans of Becky Albertalli and Leah Johnson, this charming YA rom-com follows Margo, who suddenly realizes that she’s gay but has no clue how to express her identity—so she enlists out-and-proud Abbie to act as her tutor on everything “Queer 101”...and first love.

Margo Zimmerman excels at everything she tries. She holds three swim team records, is Student Body President, and she has her future all figured out. Until a game of spin the bottle gone awry leads to an epiphany: she’s gay. Feeling off balance in the wake of this realization, Margo is determined to ace her gayness. All she needs is the right tutor.

Abbie Sokoloff has her own gayness down to a science. She’s been out for years and is tapped into the queer community in her suburban Florida town. What she doesn’t have is a passing grade in US History, threatening her acceptance to her dream school. All she needs is the right tutor.

The two strike a deal: Abbie will teach Margo how to discover her queer identity and in exchange, Margo will help Abbie get her history grade up. Everybody wins.

But as their lessons continue and they spend more and more time together, Margo realizes she doesn’t want just any girl—she wants the girl.

Boundless: Twenty Voices Celebrating Multicultural and Multiracial Identities

edited by Ismée Williams and Rebecca Balcárcel

From platonic and romantic love to grief and heartbreak, these stories explore navigating life at the intersection of identities, and what it means to grow up surrounded by a multitude of traditions, languages, cultures, and interpersonal dynamics.

Returning to a father's homeland. Trying to fit in at chaotic weddings and lavish birthday parties where not all are welcome. Processing grief at family gatherings. Figuring out how to share the news of a new relationship with loved ones. This collection celebrates multicultural and multiracial characters at the helm of their own narratives, approaching life with a renewed sense of hope and acceptance.

These sixteen stories by award-winning and bestselling YA authors center a Latinx point of view in an empowering anthology that reimagines classics through fantasy, science fiction, and with a dash of magic, for fans of A Phoenix First Must Burn and Reclaim The Stars.

Relit features sixteen original stories by award-winning and bestselling Latinx YA authors that revamp classics, myths, and fairytales to center the multilayered Latinx experience through fantasy, science fiction, and a dash of magic.

Pride and Prejudice is launched into outer space, Frankenstein is plunged into the depths of the ocean, and The Great Gatsby floats to an island off the coast of Costa Rica. A shape-shifter gives up her life to save the boy she loves from an evil bruja. La Ciguapa covets a little mermaid's heart of gold. Two star-crossed teens fall in love while the planet burns around them.

Whether characters fall in love, battle foes, or grow through grief, each story will empower readers to see themselves as the heroes of the stories that make our world.

Author the Editor: Sandra Proudman (she/her/ella) is a Mexican American author of unabashed Latinx stories and a literary associate living in the heart of California. When not busily immersed in all things publishing, you can find her spending time with her amazing husband and adorable preschooler, catching up on all her shows, and baking five-star pies. She is also the author of the YA fantasy, Salvación, out fall 2024. Connect with her on Twitter, Instagram, and TikTok @SandraProudman and on her website sandraproudman.com.
