THE DIVIDING SKY

Jill Tew

SERPENT & DOVE meets Arcane in this dystopian romance debut that follows a memory merchant who deals a little extra happiness on the side and the handsome officer on her tail!

In this YA debut where memories are sold to wealthy clientele, Liz gets the chance of a lifetime. All she has to do is see stars, log the memory, and bring it back home for an absurd number of credits. But to do this, she must visit a no man's land and face raiders to find a spot dark enough to meet the task, all without her memories. AND there's an over-eager forceman hunting her down for a crime that could bring down the society they live in. He is kind of cute though...

TRUE LIFE IN UNCANNY VALLEY

Deb Caletti

From Printz Honor-winning author of A HEART IN THE BODY IN THE WORLD comes an astonishing story of a girl living a lie to find the truth about her family and herself.

The world watches everything Hugo Harrison and his life-changing AI inventions do and so does Eleanor, Hugo Harrison's daughter from his invisible second family, the result of a long-term affair. When Eleanor is hired as a live-in summer nanny for Hugo's toddler, she gains the opportunity to learn about her father—even if it means hiding her identity. But as she gets caught in a web of lies, both her own and the those of her father, Eleanor is faced with questions of identity that technology can't answer and money can't solve.

LOVE POINTS TO YOU

Alice Lin

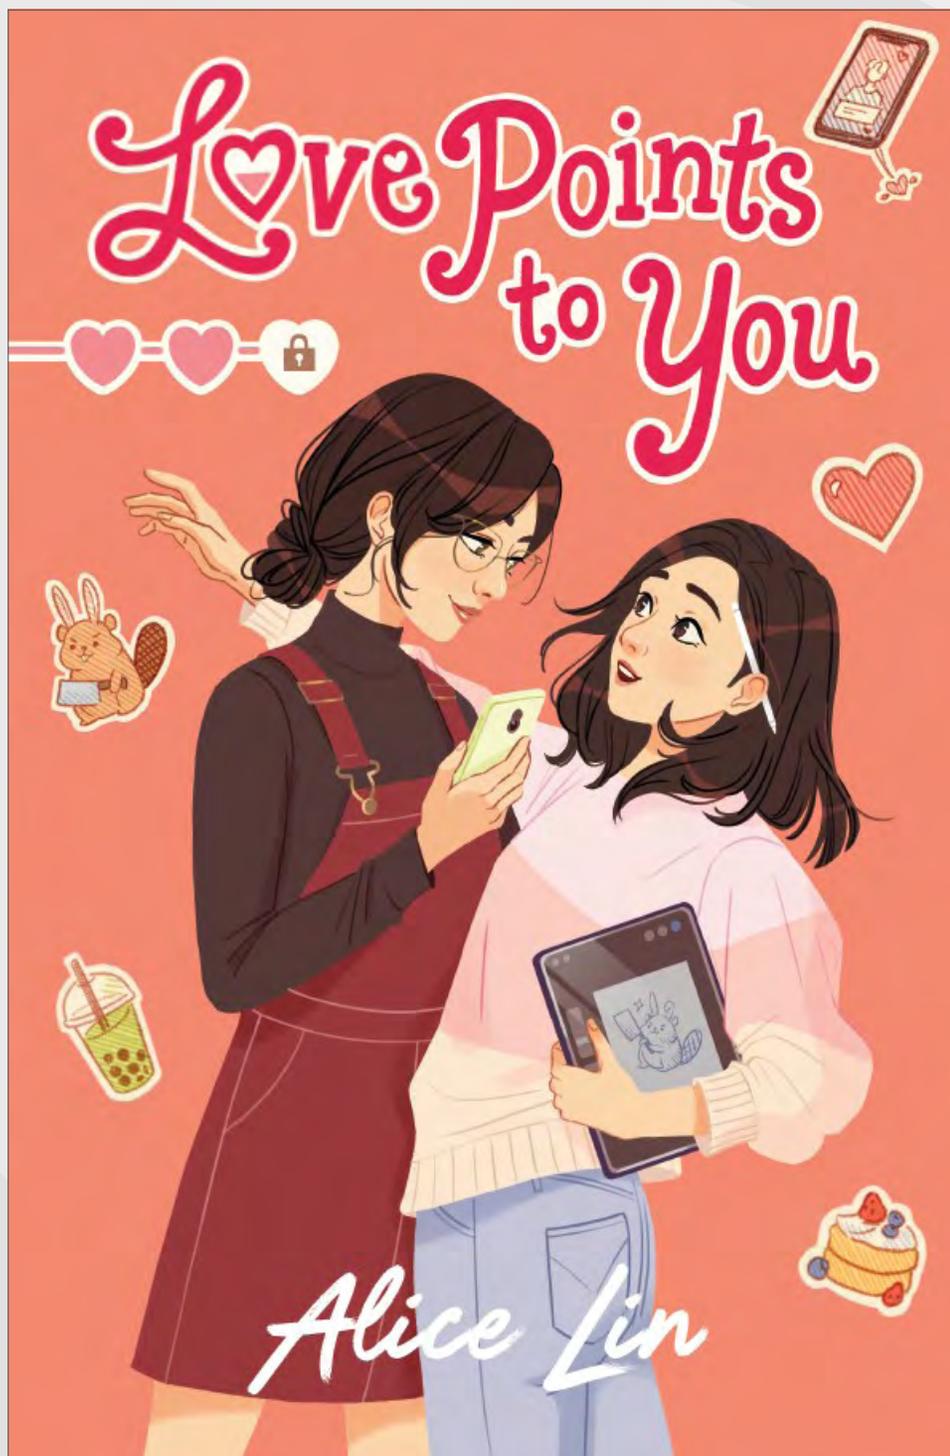

A rivals-to-lovers sapphic romance between driven, practical Lynda Fan and her rich, arrogant classmate, Angela Wu.

16-year-old Lynda has the skills and the drive to get into a prestigious design school—but not the money. Her parents are too busy paying for her stepsister’s violin lessons to help Lynda. So when her haughty classmate, Angela, offers to hire Lynda as a character designer for an otome game—a love story-based video game—she jumps at the opportunity. Lynda isn’t exactly a romantic, but in pursuit of her dreams, she discovers things she never knew about herself while finding love with every heart she draws.

In a starred review, School Library Journal called author Alice Lin’s debut FIREWORKS “quick-paced and addictive...heartwarming and satisfying.”

All that stands between 10-year-old Beatrice and an amazing life are five wishes...and she's got a plan to make them all come true! A magical and heartfelt adventure about grief, hope, and the power of human connection.

Beatrice Corwell has a crooked haircut, eight well-trained cats, and a plan: she's turning herself into a Tin Man. Once her heart is made of metal, she'll no longer miss her beloved dead grandma, her absent dad, or her recently moved-away best friend. When an unusual boy named Caleb moves to town and mentions his granny's interest in magic, Beatrice decides to enlist their help in making some of her wishes come true before her transformation is complete. She quickly learns, however, that spells don't always go as planned, and witches can't be trusted. With the arrival of an unexpected visitor and a series of otherworldly messages, Beatrice's plans begin to falter. Will her heart turn into metal? Will any of her wishes come true?

TURNING TWELVE

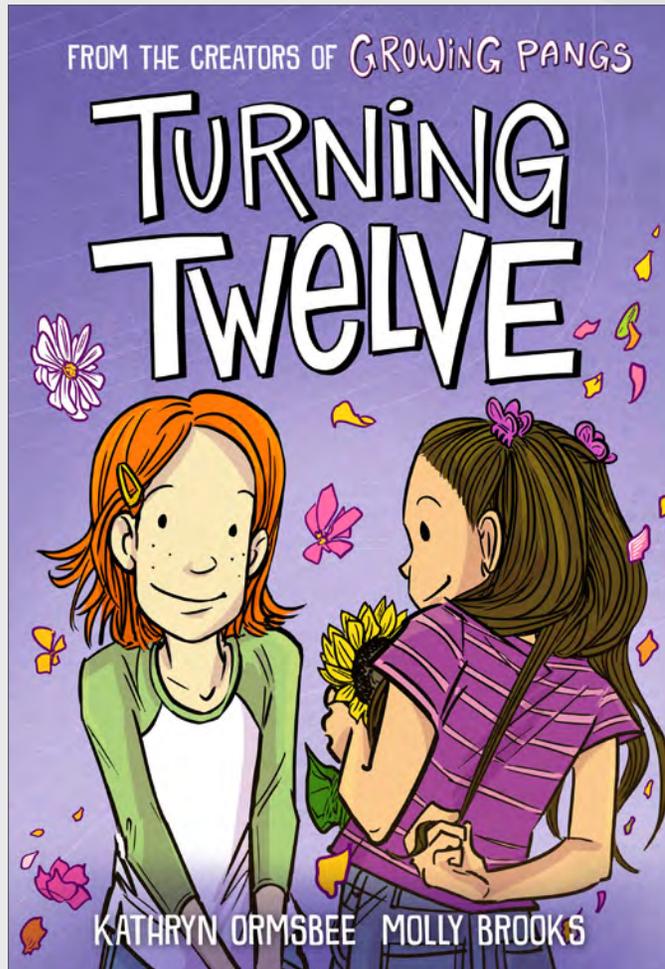

Kathryn Ormsbee;
Illustrated by Molly Brooks

From the creators of the acclaimed graphic novel GROWING PANGS, a NPR Best Book of the Year, comes another pitch-perfect coming-of-age graphic novel.

Katie can't wait to turn twelve—pool parties! Babysitting! Friends! But sometimes it feels like there's so much new stuff she can barely keep up. First job? (Yes!) Unfair dress codes? (No way!) Make up (Okay?!) Shaving? (Uh...!) Maybe growing up isn't as much fun as she had expected. But one thing does seem right—her new friend, Grace. Could Katie have a crush on another girl? Katie knows not everyone around her will approve...which is kind of scary. She might not be ready to tell anyone yet, and that's fine...but can Katie stay true to herself and embrace the person she's growing up to be?

Perfect for fans of NEW KID and SMILE, this contemporary graphic novel introduces a young boy navigating life with his dad, one car ride at a time.

Lonnie is going through big changes in his life—with his parents newly divorced, he’s trying to figure out his new normal. He likes living with his mom and sister, but misses spending time with his father—and the short drives to and from school just aren’t enough. His dad is determined to make every moment count, relying on the car rides to talk about all of the big things that are hard to talk about elsewhere—divorce, sexuality, racism and more. As Lonnie gets used to this new dynamic and hard conversations, will he be better able to connect to his dad? Or will this new family structure force them even further apart?

WE ARE BIG TIME

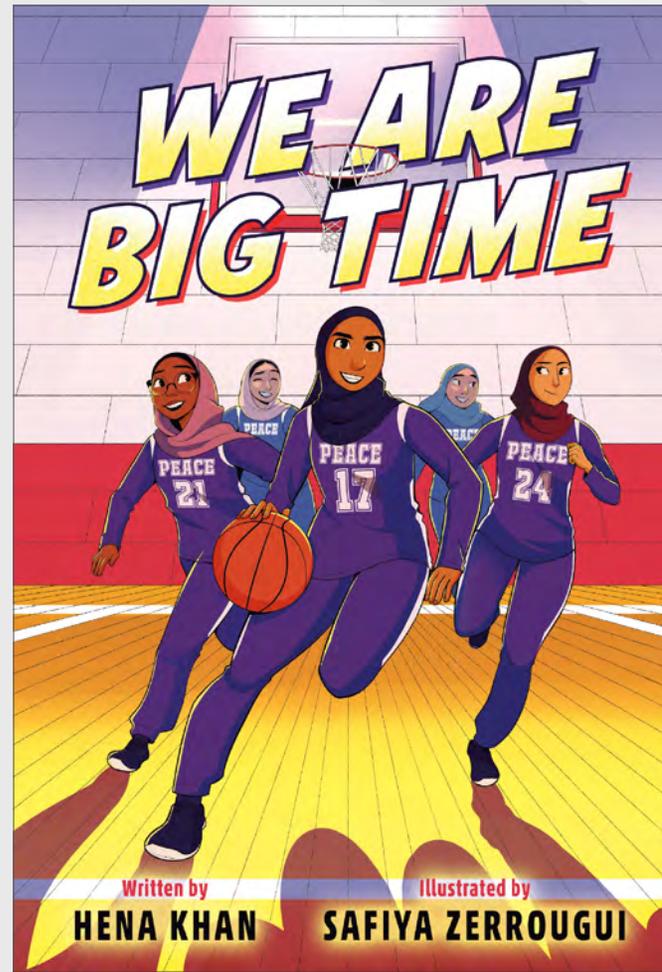

Hena Khan; Illustrated by Safiya Zerrougui

Cheer for a Muslim teen as she joins an all-girls, hijab-wearing basketball team and learns that she's much more than a score. This energetic graphic novel is inspired by a true story of culture and perceptions, fitting in, standing out, and finding yourself.

Aliya is new to town, and everything feels different than home. The Islamic school is bigger, the city is colder, and her new basketball team is...well, worse. Aliya's still excited to have teammates (although the team's captain isn't really Aliya's biggest fan), and their new coach really understands basketball (even if she doesn't know much about being Muslim). This season should be a blast if they could just start to win. As they strengthen their skills on the court, Aliya and the Peace Academy team discover that it takes more than talent to be great—it's teamwork and self-confidence that defines true success.

A vibrant picture book about Tokyo's bicycle food deliverers, or demae, who balanced towering trays of steaming hot noodles on their shoulders while navigating crowded city streets.

The children wait for the flicker of pedal and wheel. It's the demae setting off to deliver steaming trays of noodles to hungry customers all over the city. They are acrobats: whizzing past other bicycles, soaring around curves, avoiding the black smoke of motorcycles. When the children see them, they want to be them. And so they practice with bowls of wobbling water stacked on trays. The day passes, and, finally, exhausted, the demae return home, to their families, and, yes, to steaming bowls of noodles.

THE GREATEST

Veera Hiranandani;
Illustrated by
Vesper Stamper

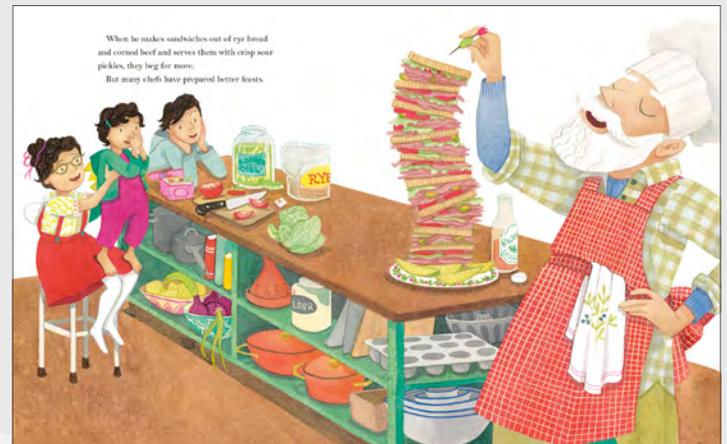

From Newbery Honor author Veera Hiranandani and National Book Award finalist Vesper Stamper comes a poignant story about the love between grandparents and grandchildren and how love can make anyone “the greatest” in someone’s eyes.

Grandpa loves Sundays—that’s when his three grandchildren come to visit. They act out plays and catch fireflies in the yard and build a sukkah to celebrate the harvest. His grandchildren bestow affection and admiration on him. Sometimes, though, he wonders why they think he’s so great? Should he tell them that he’s just an average, ordinary man?

They seem to love Sundays as much as he does. They act as if he's the greatest grandfather in the world. He knows this can't be true. He's just a simple, ordinary man.

When he makes sandwiches out of rye bread and corned beef and serves them with crisp sour pickles, they beg for more. But many chefs have prepared better feasts.

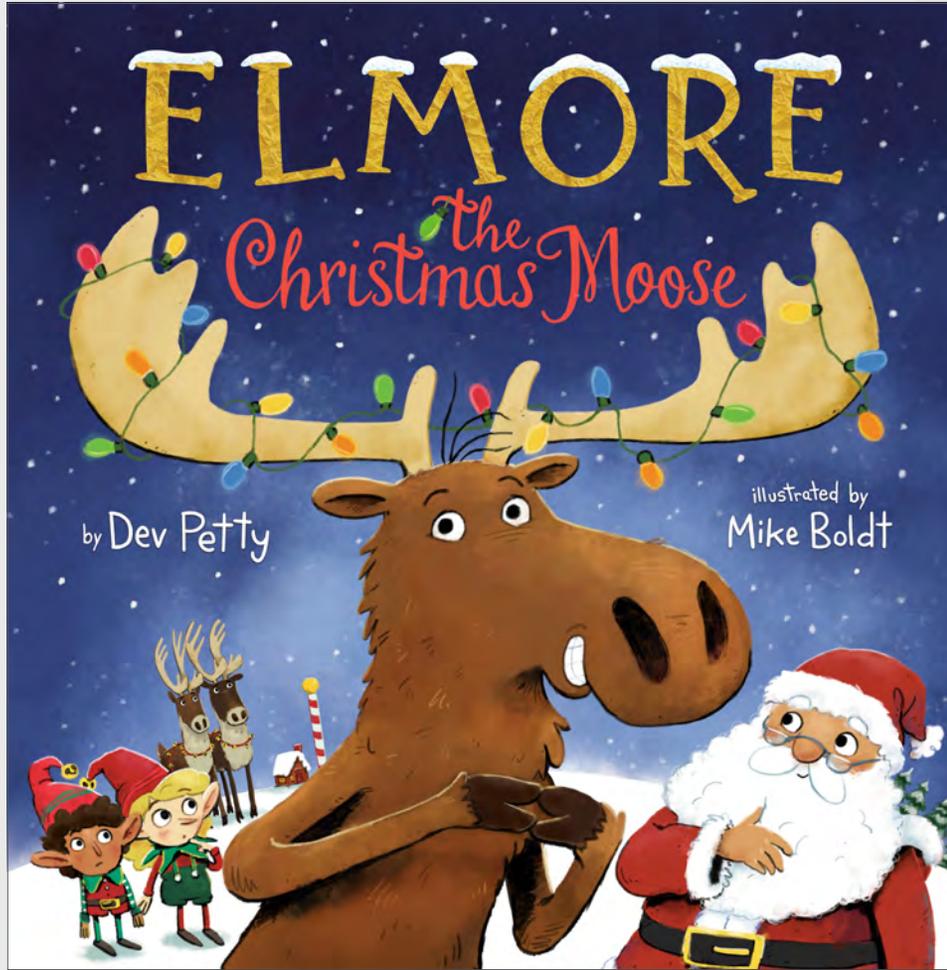

ELMORE THE CHRISTMAS MOOSE

Dev Petty;
Illustrated by Mike Boldt

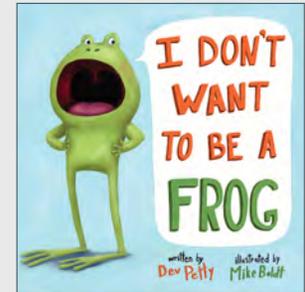

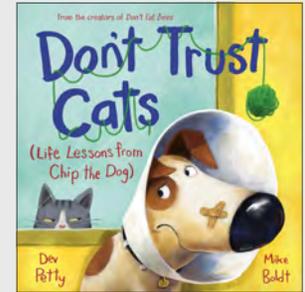

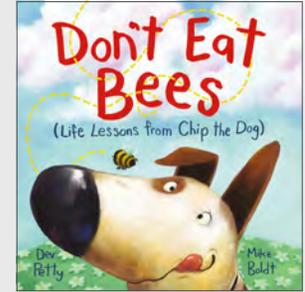

A hilarious and heartwarming Christmas story about a moose who wants to be one of Santa's reindeer. This charming picture book comes from the comic minds of the duo that brought you I DON'T WANT TO BE A FROG and DON'T EAT BEES.

When Santa places a job listing in the North Pole newspaper for a replacement reindeer, Elmore the moose eagerly applies.

After trying relentlessly to fly, Elmore perseveres in his dream to become a part of Santa's team. Young readers will love Elmore's funny letters to Santa as he continues on his quest. We publish Book Two in Fall 2025.

TATE'S WILD RESCUE

Jenny Turnbull;
Illustrated by Izzy Burton

Animal-loving Tate's heartfelt hope to rescue a wild animal combined with the blunt hilarity of their responses makes this charming story perfect for anyone wild about animals! Backmatter also offers ideas for children on how they can help both wild and companion animals.

Tate is determined to help wild animals and comes up with the perfect plan: she'll offer one a better life and they will be best friends! To her surprise, none of the wild animals she invites to live with her are impressed with her offerings—Orca is not interested in the kiddie pool, and Tiger would rather hunt than settle for cookies. Maybe Tate will have to look a bit closer to home to find her perfect match.
